

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape featuring a winding river on the left and several large agricultural fields. Overlaid on these fields are colorful maps representing yield variability, with colors ranging from blue (low yield) to red (high yield).

Big Data

(on-farm and free)

The key to understanding yield variability